TITLE OF PROJECT:

Time Period of Grant: March 2010
Amount of Award Received: $500.00
Original Abstract as Submitted:

This panel will describe and assess a yearlong collaboration between UCSC reference librarians and composition faculty. 2 librarians and 2 instructors will address and assess a yearlong collaboration at our institution. Along with a small pilot group of faculty at our campus, we undertook to collaborate on pedagogy, strategies and best practices with which to integrate library-based research tasks into first-year writing courses. Building on recent research in the field which urged a shift towards thinking about reference librarians "in terms of teaching rather than service" (Columbia University 2007), and with the encouraging prompting from our librarians, this collaboration has resulted in a new way to create an integrated library-writing class.
